Most of those bright-eyed newcomers you're hoping to woo are diving headfirst into reader or author groups. They're often buddies or family of your devoted fans, lured in by romance-loving book nerds, or perhaps dazzled by your charm at book signings!

Then, naturally, there are those adventurous souls who stumble upon your masterpiece in a cozy bookshop or while scrolling through social media and think, "Why not give this a whirl?" At the end of the day, we're like one big happy book-loving family, and as an author, it's key to remember this when you're jazzing up your social media game!

Let's kick things off with the basics, but with a twist just for you, wordsmiths!

Never Forget to Add a Splash of Visuals!

1. Eye-popping visuals are like magnets for attention, hooking users with just a glance!
2. Pairing images with a punchy call to action is like giving your message a megaphone!
3. Sure, images are great, but videos? They're like the life of the party, getting everyone up and engaged!
4. The secret sauce is usually a delightful mix of the two!

Be a Question Detective!

Example: 🐺🐻 Quick poll: "Shape-shifters unite! Are you Team Wolves or Team Bears?" (Remember to use you an image!)
